

Warn Soviet Russia To Keep Aloof Of Western Germany

United States Joins Britain And France in Step to End State of War

By Donald Doane
FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 19—(AP)—The United States joined Britain and France today in a warning to Soviet Russia to keep hands off Western Germany.

The three nations moved to end their state of war with Germany and to strengthen her industrially and defensively, but announced that there is no call for recreating a national army in the western zones.

Any attack upon Berlin or upon western Germany will be regarded as an attack upon the occupying nations themselves.

This was made clear in a communiqué issued by secretaries Acheson, Bevin and Schuman after their New York conferences. The text was made public here tonight.

Decisions Reached

The ministers, in their New York session, also decided to:

1. "Permit the establishment of mobile police formations organized on a land (state) basis but with provisions which would enable the federal (west German) government to make effective use of all or part of this force in order fully to meet the exigencies of the present situation."
2. Review present prohibitions and limitations on German industries.
3. Remove immediately all restrictions on the size, speed and number of commercial cargo ships built for export.
4. Permit steel to be produced beyond the present limits laid down by the Allies wherever such increased production would "facilitate the defense effort of the west."
5. Permit west Germany to set up a ministry of foreign affairs to handle its own foreign relations, now handled by the Allies.

The foreign ministers said they had given serious consideration to the problem of Germany's military security and to sentiments favoring German participation in the defense of western Europe. But no decision was reached on this question. "Study and exchange of views" will continue on it.

Give Up Some Controls

However, the ministers ruled out any idea of rebuilding the German army outside the framework of common European defense.

They said: "The ministers are fully agreed that the recreation of a German national army would not serve the best interest of Germany or Europe. They also believe this is the view of the great majority of the German people."

Without saying just what control powers they would give up, the Allies promised to broaden the west German government's authority for action independent of Allied vetoes.

"These decisions mark an important stage in the normalization of the relations and should contribute towards the creation of an atmosphere of mutual confidence and understanding," the communiqué said.

"They represent a major advance toward the progressive return of Germany to partnership in western Europe and the consolidation of the western nations in their efforts to establish a firm (Please turn to Page 4, Column 3)

Truman Veto Is Overridden

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—(AP)—Legislation to provide additional free medical service for Spanish-American War veterans was written into law by Congress today over the objections of President Truman.

The Senate voted 58 to 3 to override Mr. Truman's veto of the measure. It takes a two-thirds majority of those voting to override.

Last week the House voted 321 to 12 to overturn the president's disapproval.

It is the first measure of general interest to be written into law by the 81st Congress over Mr. Truman's objections.

Sound Film For Optimists

The Optimist club met today noon with Maurice Hogan presiding.

Miss Lillian Fox played a piano solo and also served as accompanist for the group singing.

The program chairman for the month are Bob Lindstrom and Dr. Ben Klein, who presented a color and sound film by the American Express company showing scenes from various parts of Europe included in which were Ireland, Scotland, England, France and other countries.

Mrs. Lela Parker was introduced and gave the highlights of the comedy, "Crazy Daze," which is being sponsored by the Lions club.

Equalize Pay To Firemen on Time Worked

Adjustment is Agreed Upon as To Their Hours

A proposal made by the City of Sedalia to members of the Sedalia Fire Department to equalize their salaries with other city employees has been accepted by the firemen. The firemen had asked for an equalization of their salaries in a letter to the city council Monday night.

Mayor Herb Studer, this afternoon, said the proposal of the city council was presented at a meeting held in his office, Monday night, following the council meeting. It consisted of a $10 increase a month from now until April 1 at which time a second $10 a month would be added.

This is in recognition of the fact that the firemen work 12 hours a day instead of eight as employees in all other departments of the city work. The members of the city council have been studying the proposal for several months after a previous request of the firemen had been made when the new council was organized last spring.

Mayor Studer and Earl Lashley, chairman of the fire and water committee, this afternoon, emphasized the addition is not a raise in pay but more of a "differential pay" to the firemen for the extra four-hours-a-day worked.

Sedalia Firemen's local 823 had presented the city council Monday night with the following letter:

"Mr. Herb Studer,

"Mayor of Sedalia

"Dear Sir: Some time ago the city firemen were turned down on a plea for compensation equal to the other city departments. We were told there were no funds.

"Since that time there has been money allowed to other departments. Since this money is coming out of some fund, we are again asking for compensation in shorter hours or higher pay.

"If nothing is done by Monday morning, Sept. 25, 1950, at 7 a. m. immediate action will be taken by all members of the Sedalia (Please turn to Page 4, Column 2)

Cpl. Wilson, Sedalian, Saves A Truck Convoy in Korea

A young Sedalia soldier, 20-year-old Cpl. John W. Wilson, with the 25th Infantry Division in Korea, saved a truck convoy with his quick thinking and action.

Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil B. Lindsay, 1100 East Thirtieth street, is with Company B, 5th Regimental Combat Team, as a truck driver.

The convoy was near Haman when enemy machine gun fire opened on them setting one of the ammunition trucks afire. Seeing that no one was attempting to remove the blazing truck Wilson dashed from cover and jumped into the cab of the truck. He backed it over the embankment approximately 100 feet from the convoy, then jumped to safety just as the truck exploded.

"Had to be Done"

"I was just doing what anyone else would have done," said Wilson, when commended for his bravery. "There wasn't time to think about it, it had to be done."

Cpl. Wilson entered service on December 3, 1947, and served in Korea about 13 months going there May 1, 1948. He went back

City Firemen Seek Pay For Extra Hours

Council Awards Sewer Contract To J. W. Atkinson

The Sedalia City Council met Monday night in city hall with seven of the eight councilmen answering the roll call.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The first business authorized payment for paving work done by the W. J. Menefee Construction company.

Next, a motion was made and approved for the installation of a stop sign at the southeast corner of the intersection of Liberty Park drive and Second street, and immediately east of the Liberty Park swimming pool. Similar signs are to be placed on the northwest and southeast corners of Kentucky avenue and Third street.

Award Sewer Contract

Next business was awarding a contract for sewer construction on sewer district 71 to James W. Atkinson. Work is to start in 10 days and is scheduled for completion within 90.

A letter then was read from Firemen's local 823 stating that if the city did not grant firemen compensation for the extra hours work, or arrange a shorter working schedule, it would take action as of September 23. Mayor Studer complimented the union for the business-like manner in which it presented the problem, and the Sedalia Fire Department for its general proficiency, and suggested a meeting between the union representatives, the members of the council's fire and water departments, and himself after the meeting.

Maddox Appointed

The mayor then read a letter suggesting the temporary appointment of Dr. A. R. Maddox as superintendent of Hospital No. 2. This appointment was necessitated by resignation of Mrs. Vina C. Emerson, who has taken employment in Kansas City. The council unanimously approved.

Emory Ellsworth reported the Sedalia airport had received the following new equipment from the Missouri Aviation Department: Fifteen 30-foot boundary markers, one 55-foot tower and beacon, and two runway lights. More surplus material will be coming soon.

Lindemood Resigns

Richard Lindemood, engineer for the Burns-McDonald construction company, asked the city to relieve him of his duties with the city. Lindemood is supervising the work on new sewer projects here. The work is nearing completion. His duties will be taken over by a city inspector of the job.

A petition signed by 34 Sedalians was presented to council concerning damage done by improper drainage of rainwater on Marvin avenue between Tenth street and the alley between Tenth and Eleventh streets. They asked for construction of a hard-surface road at the above street.

Delay Jet Hop Across Atlantic

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—(AP)—Two air force jet fighters abandoned an attempt to fly from London to New York non-stop today after one of the planes damaged its equipment for refueling in flight over Prestwick, Scotland.

The Air Force announced failure of the flight. Another attempt will be made later, officials indicated.

The flight was planned by the Air Force to point up its program for stretching the range of jet warplanes by refueling in flight. The two Republic F-84E Thunderjets, single engine aircraft with a normal one way range of slightly over 2,000 miles, took off from Manston airbase, England, about 8 a. m. EST (1 p. m. London time) on the 3600 mile flight against prevailing winds.

The planes had been expected to average around 450 miles an hour, putting them into New York before 5 p. m.

The pilots were Col. Dave Schilling, World War II ace with 28 German planes shot down and 10 more destroyed on the ground, and Lt. Col. W. D. Ritchie, Pine Bluff, Ark., who flew more than 200 combat missions. Both men are 31 and assigned to Pentagon posts.

Committee Chairmen of Jaycees To Meet

All committee chairmen of the Jaycees will meet at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at the Chamber of Commerce office at which time reports will be given.

No Ceremony As Johnson Takes Leave

No Fanfare as He Departs And Drives Own Car

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson left the Pentagon today without ceremony. The leave-taking was so quiet that few of the 30,000 people in the building knew their chief had gone.

Johnson bowed out in obedience to President Truman's desire to replace him with Gen. George C. Marshall.

The civilian heads of the three branches of armed services tried almost until the moment of Johnson's departure to get his approval for a farewell ceremony. Johnson left the building the same way he has for 18 months—down the private elevator from his office. He climbed into his own car and drove off without a chauffeur or attendants.

Presented Scroll

Before he left, however, members of Johnson's staff gave him a silver tray and scroll as a farewell gift.

Deputy Secretary Stephen Early, who also is resigning Sept. 30, made the presentation and read the inscription on the scroll. It said:

"To Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson—as a token of affection, esteem and gratitude of the staff which has been privileged to work with him during his tenure as secretary of defense, and which has had the opportunity to observe, at first hand, his arduous and effective work towards the strengthening of our national security."

The lack of fanfare in Johnson's leaving was in contrast to the Navy-Air Force storm which he survived as secretary and the presidential blow last week which ended his 18 months as the No. 1 civilian boss of the services.

Preparing New Aid Program

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—(AP)—A new $10,000,000 foreign aid program to help ease Communist pressure reportedly is being drafted for President Truman's consideration.

Informed officials told a reporter yesterday the proposal probably will be submitted to the White House in mid-October.

Slight Quake at Osceola, Ark.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19—(AP)—A "slight earthquake" occurred at 5:48 p. m. (CST) Saturday 215 miles south of St. Louis, according to records of St. Louis University seismographs here and at suburban Florissant, university officials said today.

They placed the tremor roughly 20 miles north of Memphis, Tenn., in the southern edge of the New Madrid, Mo., earthquake region. Officials said tremors usually occur three or four times a year in the area.

Had Slight Quake

OSCEOLA, Ark., Sept. 19—(AP)—Police Chief Jake Threlkill said Osceola, 40 miles north of Memphis, apparently experienced a slight earthquake Saturday night.

A rumbling noise accompanied by quivering of the earth startled residents. Chief Threlkill said he first thought there had been an explosion but when no evidence of one could be found, decided "it must have been a slight earthquake."

Harriman in Rap at Taft

Assails Ohio Senator in a Speech to AFL

HOUSTON, Sept. 19—(AP)—A top administration spokesman told the American Federation of Labor today "we can no longer afford" to have Senator Robert Taft (R-Ohio) in a position of high responsibility.

W. Averell Harriman, special assistant to President Truman, said in a prepared address that if the Ohioan's advice in recent years had been followed, "Communist objectives would thereby have been furthered."

Harriman's blunt language was one of the sharpest administration attacks on Taft, whose defeat in the November election was predicted yesterday by AFL President William Green.

"When you look at his record," said the former ambassador to Russia and Great Britain, "you cannot escape the conclusion that if the Congress had adopted his position, Communist objectives would thereby have been furthered."

"Actions which further the designs of the Kremlin cannot be forgiven on the ground that they were taken unwittingly. The most charitable thing one can say about Taft is that he knows not what he does."

"We can no longer afford to leave in positions of high responsibility men who fail to recognize that American leadership is essential to the peace of the world."

Obligation to Vote

Harriman prefaced his criticism of Taft with an appeal for the AFL delegates to "impress upon your membership the obligation and responsibility that everyone of us has to vote."

He said candidates for reelection should be appraised on the basis, in part, of how they voted on the Marshall plan and the North Atlantic treaty. Taft, he said, sought to cripple the Marshall plan, voted against the North Atlantic treaty and also against military aid to strengthen mutual defense of the North Atlantic nations. Harriman added:

"He is now using his wide influence to attempt to block the recall to public service at this critical time of a man who is universally respected and trusted, not only in our own country, but throughout the world—George C. Marshall."

Harriman was the first in a parade of administration leaders lined up to address the AFL.

The tall diplomat said that if American foreign policy is successfully implemented, "irresistible pressures will, I believe, develop behind the Iron Curtain to weaken Kremlin domination." He expressed conviction no world conflict is near, saying "I do not believe he (Stalin) wants to start another world war unless he feels sure of victory."

But the western world must rearm quickly to prevent war, he said.

"There is only one way to prevent force from being used and that is to have a force strong enough to meet it," he said.

Harriman served as roving ambassador of the Marshall plan before he took over the job as foreign affairs advisor to Mr. Truman last June.

Football Talk For Lions Club

"Football" will be the subject of a talk to be given Wednesday noon at Bothwell hotel before the Lions club by Richard Klar, district manager of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. Klar, who has been active in the Missouri Valley conference, will discuss the changes made in the game of football and of the new rules this year.

Kenneth Buchholtz, president of the club, will preside and Jimmy Glenn, program chairman, will introduce the speaker.

Production as A Deterrent To Warfare

Carlos Fallon Opens Knife And Fork Season

Efficient economic production in both South and North America is the surest deterrent to a world war, Carlos Fallon, author, lecturer and Latin-American born citizen told members of the Sedalia Knife and Fork club at their first fall dinner meeting in Bothwell hotel Monday night.

The speaker, who was born in Bogota, described the vast area of South America and its potentialities in the international production picture as a market for industrial products manufactured in North America. These should be obtained, he contended, by encouraging South Americans to work and produce products needed in the United States for which the Latin Americans could buy the goods they wanted to improve their standard of living. Mr. Fallon declared that hard work is more to be desired by South Americans than the receipt of monetary benefactions from a northern hemisphere Santa Claus.

Tells of Living Standards

Mr. Fallon described the progress of living standards in the city of his birth at intervals during his life time when he was periodically absent from Colombia on sea duty for that country and later in the naval service of the United States. This he did to illustrate that South American living standards are not static on a high level but are in the rising dynamic category.

During his talk the speaker related many personal experiences displaying a subtle and sharp wit that created a bubbling interest among his listeners.

Mr. Fallon was introduced by Arthur J. Morgan, program chairman.

Presents New Members

The Rev. H. U. Campbell, club president, introduced the following new members present: Richard Lower, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. McEniry, Dr. and Mrs. G. T. Liveley, Major and Mrs. O. C. Aaserude, Dr. R. A. Enoch and Mrs. K. U. Love and son Kenneth; also the committee members, Miss Christine Landmann and Mrs. John Welch, dinner; Mrs. Robert Malone and Mrs. A. A. Ferguson, flowers; Arthur Morgan and Dr. T. D. Schaad, program.

The next club meeting will be held at the Bothwell Tuesday evening, October 31, when Tom Scott will give the background and play American folk songs.

There were 125 reservations for Monday night's meeting.

Is a Chairman In Chest Drive

A. W. Haller of the Haller Office Equipment company has been appointed chairman of the outlying business district of the Community Chest Drive, according to an announcement by C. W. Stephenson, chairman of the Men's division.

"I intend to ask the next legislature again to enact some kind of a new highway law to enable Missouri to keep in step with modern day transportation."

Governor Smith said "there will not be any request for additional taxes during the time I am your chief executive except for one branch of our government, and that is our State Highway Department."

"Our highway department is desperately in need of additional funds," he continued. "Unless we do secure additional highway revenue in the very near future, our present system of highways in this state will fall to pieces."

"The reason I make that assertion," he explained, "is because the people of Missouri are not willing to have a curtailment or lessening of the government services they are now receiving."

Governor Smith spoke at a luncheon meeting of the South Central Business Association. He renewed his attack on the trucking industry as not paying a tax share proportionate to the damages it does to the highways.

"Those who use the highways and wear them out pay for their upkeep in proportion to the use they make of those highways with one exception—the giant boxcar-like trucks," the Governor said.

"The destruction of our highways by the giant-sized, overloaded trucks has caused the maintenance cost to rise from 6 million dollars a few years ago to 15 million dollars this year."

"Since the special election on the gasoline tax last April there have been many, many letters demanding that the big trucks be required to pay a fair cost of our major highway routes."

All-Time Peak On State Taxes

Not Ask For Any Increase Unless It Be For Roads

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 19—(AP)—Missouri's tax collections reached an all-time peak last year, Gov. Forrest Smith said today, but "in my opinion the cost of government is never coming down."

"The reason I make that assertion," he explained, "is because the people of Missouri are not willing to have a curtailment or lessening of the government services they are now receiving."

Army Chief of Staff Feels Optimistic Over Korea

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—In the most optimistic war report yet given Congress, Army Chief of Staff Joe Collins promised no more retreats in Korea and predicted the Chinese Communists would not attack Formosa.

General Collins summed up the Korean situation for the Senate Armed Services committee behind closed doors. To the best of his knowledge and judgment, he reported, "there will be no more falling back."

The good news, however, didn't stop Senators from needing General Collins about sending untrained American boys into the front lines.

"It was not our intention to do that," Collins explained. "You must remember that we didn't have enough trained men in Japan."

He pointed out that Japan was short of training grounds, because every available inch was under cultivation. Thus, the Army found it difficult to give combat training under actual battle conditions, using live explosion charges. Tank shells, he said, would ricochet for miles and would be likely to kill civilians. Yet, this is the kind of training needed to condition men for war. Collins added that training was a matter of comparison anyway, that a soldier got more out of three months intensified training under emergency conditions than a full year of peacetime training.

The Army's chief problem is not the lack of manpower, but lack of equipment, the chief of staff clarified.

"People wonder why we don't call up more National Guard units and more organized reserves," he explained. "Why call up men in excess of the equipment we have to supply them with?"

Collins added, however, that the equipment was now beginning to roll, which caused Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Senate's watchdog over military production, to ask why the super, tank-penetrating bazookas had not been mass-produced earlier.

Bazookas in Nick of Time

"It was fortunate that we perfected them as soon as we did," replied Collins, who commanded the capture of Cherbourg in the Normandy invasion and has had plenty of bazooka experience. He went on to explain the difficulty in developing the delicate, precision shells for these new super bazookas, which finally stopped the Soviet 60-ton tanks. The shells release a concentrated ray of heat that can bore through 14 inches of armor—a project that took considerable perfecting by Army ordnance. After the handmade models were completed, Collins added, it was a problem to convert to mass production and the Army was lucky in having them finished just as the Korean war broke.

Collins briefed the Senators from a war map, which caused him to remark that the Army has developed a new plastics process for building relief maps, reducing the cost of relief maps from $35 to 60 cents per square foot.

This caused Kentucky's Senator Virgil Chapman to look round the room, and noting that economy-minded Senator Byrd of Virginia was not present, he observed: "Be sure to tell Senator Byrd about that."

General Collins also talked about the 38th parallel, along which his son served as an Army officer before the invasion.

"The 38th parallel is nothing but an imaginary line. It doesn't follow any river, mountain range or natural barrier," he explained.

Sometimes it cuts right through the middle of a rice paddy, hence the people living along the 38th parallel "pay no attention to it."

However, Collins didn't say whether the Allied armies would pay any attention to it. The decision, he indicated, would be left up to the United Nations.

Axman Tauriello

Dapper Congressman Tony Tauriello, the Italian-American from Buffalo, is now greeted in the congressional cloakrooms as "Bad News Tony."

This is because Secretary of Defense Louey Johnson resigned just a few days after Tauriello's scathing letter demanding that he quit.

The morning Johnson's ouster was announced, Tauriello received a flock of congratulations, plus an inference from Wisconsin's Andy Biehl that Tauriello was an axman for the White House.

"Who is next on your list?" Biehl asked.

The Buffalo Democrat and first-term protestee to no avail that he had no inside from the President. To which Rep. John McCormack of Massachusetts, the majority leader, said: "You knew about Johnson going before I did, Tony."

Rep. Stephen Young of Ohio pulled Tauriello into a corner and told him Johnson's resignation would so bolster Democrat chances in Ohio that Senator Robert Taft would probably be defeated.

Fidgity Accuser

A chubby little man with a limp Hitler moustache fidgited before the Senate Interior committee. He was Frank T. Bow, and he had ghost-written the speech in which Senator Andrew Schoepel of Kansas tried to pin the Red label on Secretary of Interior Oscar Chapman.

After a full day of inquiry, puzzled Chairman Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming asked: "Do you end now with the statement that you make no charge of personal disloyalty against Secretary Chapman?"

"Yes, sir," Bow replied meekly.

Earlier in the hearings, Bow had said that he dug his criticism of Chapman out of the files of the House committee on un-American activities.

"Has the House committee ever brought any charges against Secretary Chapman?" shot back O'Mahoney.

"Not to my knowledge," Bow admitted.

He also testified that he received his anti-Chapman information two years ago when he was counsel for the old harness committee in the 80th Congress.

"You want us to infer," asked the exasperated O'Mahoney, "that when you were counsel for the harness committee, you did not regard this evidence as of sufficient moment to justify you to ask the attorney general for investigation. Did you personally examine Oscar Chapman?"

"No, sir," replied Bow, "I did not . . . before this committee I am making no charges."

Disgusted, Senator Jim Murray of Montana commented, "We should be ashamed of ourselves listening to this kind of stuff when our country is threatened with dangers in the world."

Bow spoke up, "I do not doubt the loyalty of Mr. Chapman."

L.A. Mayor Suspects Scandal

Fortright Mayor Fletcher Bowron of Los Angeles has asked housing officials to request a federal grand jury to investigate his own city council.

At a private breakfast with a top housing official, Bowron bluntly charged that he suspected some of his city council had received a bribe in connection with decontrolling rents and urged his quest to ask Attorney General McGrath to order a federal grand jury investigation.

"In all my 20 years in public life, I have never seen a city council like this one," observed Mayor Bowron. "When I first came in as mayor, I had a bad city council, but I would trade this one for my first council any time."

NOTE—Meanwhile, the housing expeditor's office has sent an investigator to Los Angeles to find out why the rent ceiling was lifted at a time when the war boom is bringing more people into the city.

The investigator sent back to Washington an unconfirmed report that a city council member had received a Cadillac as a pay-off, but the investigator also reported candidly that the rent office had done a poor job of administering rent controls in Los Angeles, and had been particularly unfair to the small apartment owners.

Pot vs. Kettle

Utah Republicans are trying to smear Democratic Senator Elbert Thomas as a Communist sympathizer because during the war he wrote a magazine article friendly to Russia.

Of course, many men in public life spoke highly of Russia when she was a wartime ally. But only 18 months ago, here is what Thomas' Republican opponent, Wallace Bennett, wrote when he was head of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Bennett, a long-range believer in people-to-people friendship, had invited a group of Russians to tour American industrial centers and even offered to pay their way. However, a shortsighted Justice department blocked the Russians from accepting Bennett's invitation.

So writing to the Russian embassy in March, 1949, Bennett said:

"We believe that the visit of that world-renowned artist, Dmitri Shostakovich, and his distinguished colleagues, offers an excellent opportunity to acquaint the Russian people, through the observations of their own acknowledged cultural and scientific leaders, how Americans live, work and benefit under the American system."

"Accordingly we wish to extend to Mr. Shostakovich and his colleagues an invitation to be the guests of this association on a brief tour of some major American industrial areas and manufacturing plants. The party would be given every opportunity to see important industries in operation. . . . The association would be most happy to defray all expenses incidental to such a tour."

BE SILENT TO GOD

We have seen that if we were not living God-directed lives, the reason was that we were untrained or unwilling. We must be trained to listen, to learn, to obey. First to listen. Many of us talk fast in the presence of God, afraid that if we keep quiet God will say something unpleasant to us. We must learn to listen, to live in the passive voice. A pastor arose in one of our Ashrams and said, "God is showing me that I must shift the emphasis of my life from talking to taking." He was learning receptivity.

One translator interprets the command "Be still, and know that I am God," this way: "Be silent to God and He will mold you." Be silent to God and He will make and mold you to become the instrument of His purposes. An almighty Will will reinforce your weak will, but only when that weak will is aligned to the purposes of that almighty Will. An all-wise Mind will brood over your mind, awakening it, stimulating it, and making it creative. An all-embracing Love will quicken your love into world-sensitivity until "He will set the world into your heart."

God has three things in mind in reference to us: purpose, plan, person. He has a purpose to make you the best that you can be. He has a plan which embodies that purpose. God has a plan for every life. The next step is for you to be the person for the carrying out of that purpose and that plan. In the silence you listen for the unfolding of that purpose and that plan. You literally become the plan and purpose of God — an embodied thought of God, the word made flesh.

When someone listened to a man of God speaking, he looked up and then there decided he "would make his life a miracle." He became a miracle. A piece of wire disconnected is one thing, but a piece of wire attached to a dynamo and an engine is quite another thing. Alone, you are one thing; attached to God's purposes, you are quite another thing.

O God, alone, I am a dead wire; but attached to Thee I am throbbing with energy and glowing with light. Make my connection with Thee sure, so that I shall not be periodically going dead and lightless. May I "maintain the spiritual glow" because I've maintained the connection. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Q. and A.

You and the Service

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's another of a question-and-answer series that tells how the Korean war affects reservists, veterans, draft-age men, and anyone likely to be called to service. The author, a member of the Washington staff of NEA Service, conducted a widely-read column on "Your GI Rights" in the months following World War II. He will answer questions only in this space, not by mail.)

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Q. The services have announced that having dependents is no valid excuse for deferring reservists when they get their call to active duty. What's the reason behind this? They don't draft men with dependents.

A. The services presume that your volunteer status in the reserves means that you accept the responsibility to be called to active duty. In other words, as a reservist, you are supposed to keep yourself in reserve for duty. However, in some exceptional hardship cases the services are granting deferments.

Q. I have been taking care of my sister's little daughter since my sister passed away. I have heard reports that because of this I will have to get out of the WAC organized reserve corps. Is this true?

A. If you are the legal guardian of a child under 18 the new regulations say that you have to get out of the WAC organized reserve.

Q. My son tried to get into the Marines recently, but was turned down because of a minor physical disability. Does that mean that he won't be drafted?

A. Not necessarily. If your son's disability is minor, as you say, that means that there's a fine line to be drawn by a doctor as to his acceptability to the service. The doctor who examines him for the draft might okay him for service. Theoretically, the medical standards for all the services are the same, however.

Q. Is there an age limit on girls who will be accepted in the WAC?

A. Yes. The limits are ages 18 to 34, inclusive.

Q. Can a conscientious objector get non-combatative duty if he is drafted?

A. Yes.

You are offered a drink while a guest in another's home and you do not want it. WRONG: Feel that in order to be polite you must accept the drink.

RIGHT: Simply say, "No, thank you." It is perfectly all right to refuse either food or drink if you do so graciously.

You decide that it is time for you to leave a party.

WRONG: When your hostess leaves the other guests to go with you to the door, stand talking at the door for awhile.

RIGHT: Once you decide to go, go without lingering so that your hostess can get back to her other guests.

You have a child's birthday party!

WRONG: Time it so that you serve the guests ice cream and cake a short time before they will be going home for dinner.

RIGHT: If you serve refreshments near mealtime, serve a meal, with the ice cream and cake for dessert.

You have a friend who is moving to a town in which another good friend of yours lives.

WRONG: Give the one who is moving the other's name and address and say: "Be sure to look her up and tell her you are a friend of mine."

RIGHT: Write the friend who already lives in the town and ask her to get in touch with the newcomer.

The End of a Beautiful Friendship

The FORMER MISS FREY

By Edwin Rutt

Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: The former Ede Frey, whose marriage to Peter Flood has not been happy in under terms of her father's will, is charged by Frey & Company, a successful advertising agency. The firm is threatened with the loss of the Morn-Glo soap account, which is the largest handled by the agency. At a meeting with Lewis Northcott, advertising manager of Morn-Glo, she is told that representatives of other agencies have approached him and that she must present a campaign that is better than these. Ede calls her staff, including Dan Reagan and her brother Jeffrey, into a conference.

XIV

JEFFREY FREY remained behind in his sister Ede's office after Stoneham and Vernon had left. He fiddled with his cigarette-lighter, dropped it, retrieved it, looked from Ede to Reagan and back again.

"Well," he muttered finally, "guess I'll be going, too." The slam of the door behind him was unnecessarily loud.

Ede relaxed and smiled at Reagan. "What are you waiting for, Dan?"

Reagan's big jaw was thrust out. "To hear what is behind all this."

"There's something, of course," Ede confessed. "I didn't want to say anything in front of Chuck and Pat Vernon, but other agencies have been sniping at Morn-Glo."

Reagan nodded. "I've suspected it."

"It worries me," she said, her wide, smooth forehead crinkling in a frown. "But Northcott himself worries me more."

"In what way?"

"Well, he intimated that if we could match the ideas—bright ones, he called them—that the others brought in, the business would be safe. But I don't know. I'm beginning to agree with you. Northcott has something cooking. But the funny part is that I can't tell why I feel it."

"Me, neither," said Reagan, with notable disregard for grammar. "But I feel it, all the same. The guy's a mystery."

"What can we do about him, Dan?"

Reagan shook his head. "Nothing that I can see right now. Could be that Northcott really does want a fresh advertising slant and nothing else."

"Well, maybe," Ede was non-committal. "But I couldn't quite make him out. I don't know whether he's for us or agin us."

"Better say 'agin' till we know different," Reagan said cautiously. He arose and walked restlessly about the room. "Well, it's nearly 5 o'clock and you'll be wanting to get home. I don't suppose, though . . ."

"What don't you suppose, Dan?"

Reagan almost blurted it. "That you'd let me buy you a cocktail!"

She knew that he had nerved himself to ask her. Outside of business Dan Reagan, hard-shooting Irishman from the wrong side of the tracks, was unaccustomed to mingling in the higher social brackets. She said promptly: "Why not? I think I've earned it after my little bout with Northcott. As a matter of fact, Dan, I'll let you buy me two."

THE Regent Room was a place of thick blue carpets and countless mirrors. As she entered, Ede had the feeling of stepping into a kind of glittering darkness. But once her eyes became focused, she realized that there was light in the room. But it was subdued light, dim and soothing. A tiny bar, with blue-leather and chromium stools, was just off the foyer. And the only music came from a single piano played by a gentleman who seemed barely to touch the keys with the tips of his fingers. In Ede's book, the Regent Room was the most restful cocktail lounge in New York.

She and Reagan found a corner table.

After Reagan gave their orders to a deferential waiter, Ede lit a cigarette and leaned back. After a moment, she said, "Suppose we were to try a direct frontal attack on Northcott?"

"How do you mean?"

"Well, simply face him down. Tell him, frankly, that we think it would improve our relations if he'd show us his whole hand."

"You don't actually know that he isn't showing it," Reagan reminded her.

"We don't know. But we're 99 per cent sure. Do you think it would work, Dan, or am I being naive?"

"I wouldn't call it that," Reagan said. "You're not the naive type. But, after all, you are pretty new to this business. If you did that, Northcott would simply evade you. He'd swear that he was only interested in getting the best advertising job for his product. He'd certainly admit to no ulterior motive, if he has one. No, I think we'll have to find another way of getting at him."

EDE made a gesture of impatience. "And, meanwhile, he's got us on the defensive. He can play along with us and then strike, whenever he wants to."

"That," said Reagan, "is the advertising business. Agencies are always on the defensive because clients like to put them there."

The waiter brought the drinks. Ede was just lifting her glass when there came a slight commotion in the doorway of the Regent Room, and the sound of a light gay laugh. The laugh had a very familiar ring. Ede looked up quickly.

Her sister Jenn was just climbing onto one of the blue-and-chromium stools at the little bar. With her was a tall man whose sleek dark hair was liberally sprinkled with gray. Hamilton Grieve, Ede thought immediately, had developed into the perfect approaching-middle-age-man-about-town. Reagan noticed Ede's slight start. "Someone you know?" he asked. "My kid sister, doing herself no particular good."

Some Husband-Wife Rules on How to be Happy at Parties

Husbands and wives would have more fun when they go out for an evening together if they would avoid a few mistakes so many married couples make.

One. Avoid that last minute rush that starts you off in an irritated mood. The wife can usually see to that by getting dressed ahead of time, having her husband's clothes laid out for him, having the baby sitter come fifteen minutes ahead of time.

Two. Drop all unpleasant subjects for the evening. Driving to a party is no time for Mama to remind Papa of some distasteful chore that has to be done that week or to complain about how hard it is to get by on her grocery allowance.

Three. Silence isn't golden when a couple should be in a "party" mood. Now's the time for the really funny story you've been saving for the amusing incident that happened during the day, for a little harmless gossip that you know your mate will find interesting.

No Caretakers Needed

Four. Neither should act as the other's caretaker during the evening. If the husband is having a good time off in a corner with a couple of congenial souls, his wife shouldn't try to make him join some other group. If the wife is having a good time, the husband shouldn't announce suddenly that he has a hard day at the office tomorrow, and they have to leave.

Five. The husband should pay enough attention to his wife that she doesn't feel neglected. No wife likes to be taken to a party and have her husband completely

Social Events

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith of Houston announce the marriage of their daughter Helen Frances to Mr. Cyrus A. Crowder, son of Mrs. John W. Reid of Sweet Springs, which took place on Saturday morning, Sept. 16, at 11:00 o'clock.

The marriage ceremony was read by the Rev. Lennox Crockett at his home in Sweet Springs.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Mary Alice Smith of Kansas City.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for an extended trip to points of interest through the midwestern states after which they will be at home on their farm near Herndon.

Miss Vickie Schlecht of Seattle, Wash., became the bride of Mr. William Gene Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Rose, 519 West Third street, August 24. They were married in San Diego, Calif., where Mr. Rose is stationed in the Navy.

The LaMonte Garden club met at the home of Mrs. Paul Steinkuhler on Tuesday.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Paul Moore.

Fifteen members answered roll call, with one guest, Mrs. Ellis Hall.

Mrs. Elton Keller gave an interesting talk on "Gardening." Mrs. George Swope talked on "Peonies" and told when to plant them. The flower of the month is the dahlia.

Mrs. H. A. Wade and Mrs. Steinkuhler received firsts on their entries and Mrs. James White received second.

The hostess served refreshments.

A dinner was given in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Lorine Kelley, 1319 East Sixth street, September 17.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Snyder and son Charley, of Ottaville; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Soules, of Columbia; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Meyer, of Stover; Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hopkins, Mrs. Lorine Kelly, Barbara, Bill and Johnnie, of Sedalia.

Mr. Snyder received many nice gifts.

Seek Clue in Ambush Killing

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 19.—(P)—State Highway Patrol investigators still searched today for a clue in the ambush killing of a 40-year old Osage county farmer, William May, yesterday.

Capt. C. E. Potts of the patrol said four troopers were continuing a search in the area where May was cut down with a single blast from a shotgun.

May and Mose Helton were cutting roadside brush for a telephone line right-of-way along State Highway 133 between Meta and Westphalia, Mo., when the shot was fired. The location is about 12 miles southeast of Jefferson City.

Helton told the patrol he was working some 30 yards from May when he heard the shot. He said he saw May drop but never did catch a glimpse of the assailant.

May is survived by his widow and two children of her former marriage.

Reports Theft from Car

Albert Pummil, 1207 East Seventh street, reported to the police four wheel rims and a hub were stolen off of his 1942 Chevrolet sometime Sunday night or Monday.

Church News

The T.E.L. class of the First Baptist church will hold its regular luncheon Thursday at 12:30 o'clock in the church basement.

The fifth biennial meeting of the Kansas City Synodical Women's guild of the Evangelical and Reformed church was held September 12-13 in Levasy, with Mrs. Henry Damm, of Jefferson City, presiding. One hundred ninety-three delegates and visitors from three states were registered.

A panel discussion, led by the Rev. Walter Baumgartner, of Cosby, president of the Kansas City synod, highlighted the opening session. Statements on the work of the committees of the synod and reports of guild department chairman showed how the program of the guild through its eight departments has undergirded the work of the church through harmony with the synod committees. Rev. Baumgartner says that the probable reason for the dark ages was the absence of women workers in the church.

A service of worship, followed by communion services, was held Tuesday evening. Miss Anna Astroth, a member of the faculty of the Eden cemetery, at Webster Groves, and of the staff of Caroline Missions in St. Louis, spoke on the convention theme, "I Love Thy Church, O God."

The biennial elections of officers was held Wednesday morning with Mrs. Martin Ernst, Parkville, elected as president; Mrs. Leonard Voss, of Columbia, first vice-president; Mrs. Paul Yoder, of Cheney, Kas., second vice president; Mrs. Fred Lefman, of Hignsville, secretary; and Mrs. Max Slusher, of Hignsville, treasurer.

Delegates attending from Sedalia, included Mrs. Elmer Maune, president of the local guild, Mrs. William C. Bessmer, delegate and Mrs. Ernest Liebel, who concluded six years on the synodical board. Mrs. Maune was appointed chairman of the synodical thank offering department for a two year period.

Mrs. Vernon Monsees, Smithton, entertained the Sunshine Sunday school class of the Methodist church. Assistant hostesses were: Mrs. R. R. Demand, Miss Laura Kruse, Mrs. Golder Lutgen and Mrs. Edward Jaeger. Visitors were Mrs. Joe Monsees and Mrs. Virgil Quint.

Oak Grove Club Had Flower Show

The Oak Grove homemakers met at the club house Tuesday, September 5, with a 1:30 luncheon. Mrs. W. E. Mewes and Mrs. H. A. Wilson were hostesses. Mrs. H. A. Wilson gave the devotional. The regular order of business followed the luncheon. Roll call was answered by giving middle name, also a new flower grown for first time this year. Mrs. Chas. Mawhorter read the news letter on "Friends Abroad." The home management leaders were elected to have charge of the club exhibit at the county achievement day at the First Baptist Church October 12. Mrs. A. A. Ferguson and Mrs. Al. Schreiner were the guests of the club. Officers for the year of 1951 were elected as follows: Mrs. Marion Hall, President; Mrs. Clifford Mawhorter, Vice-president; Mrs. Herbert Mewes, secretary; Mrs. C. L. Turner, treasurer; Mrs. Claud Wooley, game leader; Mrs. Earnest Schlobohm, reporter; Mrs. Elmer Mewes, song leader; Mrs. O. F. Gorrel, parliamentarian.

Mrs. A. A. Ferguson judged the flower exhibit which was very nice. She also gave an interesting talk on colors and arrangement, also containers. Mrs. Schreiner placed the ribbons, Mrs. Clifford Mawhorter was in charge of the games, each pertaining to flowers. The meeting was adjourned after a very pleasant afternoon.

Get Reward For Return Of Money Lost

INDEPENDENCE, Sept. 19.—(P)—John Simmons, 12, and 8-year-old Jim Pippenger pulled a brown paper sack out of a trash can in an alley here Saturday. Out of the sack tumbled a purse containing $157.59.

The boys took the sack to the police station. Through a letter in the purse, officers located the owner, Mrs. Opal Plum.

She said she lost the money Thursday. Jim and John each got $10 reward.

The seeds are believed to have a bearing on watermelons' flavor.

Given Continual Transfusions

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 19.—(P)—Continual blood transfusions Monday kept alive an 18-year-old boy wounded when he called a friend a "sissy."

Jefferson-Killman hospital attendants said they had given 17 points of whole blood in transfusions to Otis English in little more than 24 hours. They estimated this was enough to change his normal blood supply twice.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Clyde Morris said Eliza Cooper, 16, had been charged with assault with intent to murder. Officers said both boys are Negroes.

Morris said English called Cooper a "sissy" when Cooper refused to go on an outing because his mother had told him to clean up their home.

The deputy said Cooper told him he picked up a shotgun and pulled the trigger, thinking the gun was unloaded. The full charge struck English in the abdomen.

Charge Impersonating Of Police Officer

NEVADA, Mo., Sept. 19.—(P)—Arthur J. Cable, 27, has been charged with petty larceny and impersonating a Kansas City police officer.

Arrested here Saturday, Cable showed a Kansas City police badge and identification card bearing the name of Cecil Wiley.

The real Cecil Wiley came here yesterday and identified Cable as a man he had befriended Friday night, only to have Cable disappear with his badge, card and a shirt.

Police Chief Alva Phillips said Cable also is wanted at Pittsburg, Kas., on a bad check charge and at Guymon, Okla., on a felony count.

ACTUAL CASES WHERE HADACOL HAS RELIEVED NEURITIS PAINS

Due to Lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in Their Systems!

Mrs. Mabel Kitchen, 1650 Amsterdam, Cincinnati, Ohio: "Before I started HADACOL, I had aches and pains of neuritis in my shoulders, back and arms. I could hardly move without having those terrible aches and pains. Then I heard about HADACOL from a very good friend of mine. After the second bottle the aches and pains were about gone. Now am just starting on my fourth bottle and I'm on top of the world. I eat well, and the aches and pains are completely gone. I recommend HADACOL to all my friends." (HADACOL actually relieves the REAL CAUSE of neuritis pains when due to such deficiencies.)

Mr. Harry Springer of 5608 Greer Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri: "I had neuritis pains for some time. I took expensive treatments but I continued to suffer pain. Then I read about HADACOL in a newspaper. I bought the first bottle and within a week I felt quite a bit better. And since taking the third bottle I have no pains at all. Right now five of my co-workers are taking HADACOL on my recommendation."

Mrs. Ethel Caraway, Box 192, Clay, Louisiana: "I had been suffering from neuritis pains in my neck so bad I couldn't sleep and had no appetite. I took many medicines without success and decided to try HADACOL, since the testimonials of so many people convinced me it was worth a chance. After taking only one bottle, all the pain and soreness had left my body. I found my energy had returned and now I feel better than I have in years."

Mr. W. L. Daniels, Springfield, Missouri: "I can definitely recommend HADACOL. I was bothered with neuritis pains, had little appetite and had stomach distress. I was nervous and in a general run-down condition. There is no doubt in my mind but that HADACOL has been a real and definite help in all these ailments."

ONE OF THE GREATEST BLESSINGS OF THE TIMES!

ACT NOW—HADACOL is not a quick-acting pill which gives symptomatic relief—HADACOL gives such remarkable results because it actually relieves the REAL CAUSE of neuritis aches and pains when due to lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in the system. And continued use of HADACOL helps prevent such agonizing neuritis pains from coming back. HADACOL has brought relief in case after case where all hope of obtaining relief had been given up.

WHAT HADACOL DOES
This great product not only supplies weak, deficient systems with extra quantities of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin but also beneficial amounts of precious Calcium, Phosphorus and Manganese—elements so vital to maintain good health and guard against such deficiency ailments. BE FAIR TO YOURSELF. Start taking HADACOL today. Don't keep dragging yourself around when relief is so inexpensive and near at hand—your neighborhood drugstore. Trial-size bottle, only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50.

HADACOL comes in special liquid form so that it's quickly absorbed and assimilated by the blood—ready to go to work at once. A big improvement is often noticed within a few days.

City Firemen Seek Pay For Extra Hours

The mayor and council expressed eagerness to cooperate in this work.

Councilman Jim Reed made a motion for the installation of speed limit signs in zoned districts on Ohio avenue. He also called for signs restricting drivers from making left turns from downtown alleys onto major streets, and the erection of signs notifying the public of the city parking lot.

To Purchase Tractor

Reed also presented the council with a motion authorizing the purchase of a caterpillar tractor with which to dig disposal ditches for the city's garbage. The tractor will both dig and re-fill the ditches. Heretofore the ditches have been dug by outside construction firms. The cost of the tractor is $10,400.

Police Chief Edgar Neighbors spoke to the council on the problem of the parking of trucks in the residential districts. As it stands now the law will be enforced, and it is up to the truck-owners to find parking room for their trucks off the city streets. Adjustment of the problem will be discussed later.

A 5% beer license was granted to Josephine Brougher, operator of a tavern located at 1503 South Ohio avenue. This license replaces the one held by W. J. Cummins for the same address.

The Bungalow was granted a renewal on its license to serve liquor by the drink, and the liquor license of the Ohio Street Drug was cancelled upon the owner's request.

Damages in a Three-car Crash

A three car accident at Third street and Missouri avenue caused damage to two passenger vehicles and an old truck about 9:30 o'clock this morning. Drivers of the three vehicles were booked for careless driving and they are to appear in police court, Wednesday.

The cars involved were Clarence Flewelling, 313 East Jefferson street, driving a Chrysler sedan; Dean Winfrey, 502 Wilkerson, driving a 1935 Dodge coach; and Billy Rowlett, Twenty-sixth street and Washington avenue, driving a Chevrolet truck.

Flewelling, a police officer, was driving his car east on Third street and had stopped at the intersection, then started up when the accident happened. Winfrey and Rowlett were both driving north on Missouri avenue. Rowlett said he bruised an ankle in the mishap.

Accumulations of lint or cat or dog hairs in closets make ideal quarters for moths and carpet beetles.

Loyal Rebekahs No. 260 will hold their regular meeting Friday evening, August 22 at the American Legion hall. All members are urged to be present.

Rush to Cross Han River And Take Seoul Before Reds Recoup

Beth reported U.S. 24th Division infantrymen marched into Waegwan on the heels of fleeing Reds and moved one and one-half miles northwest of the town.

Waegwan is 12 miles northwest of Taegu on "heartbreak highway"—the main road back to Seoul. Waegwan had been a key point of Red resistance against the Allied push to crack out of the old beachhead.

Air observers spotted three motorized Red columns moving northwest toward Seoul along heartbreak highway.

Warplanes strafed and rocketed the rear column on the stretch between Kumchon, 18 miles northwest of Waegwan, and Yongdong.

They searched for the others. One was reported between Yongdong and Taejon, and the second was north of Taejon, rubble city 90 air miles south of Seoul.

South of Waegwan, the Americans in at least four battalion strength crossed the Nakdong river behind which they had retired Aug. 4 for the final south-east Korea stand.

Cross Nakdong River
The 24th, trail-blazing outfit in Korea, crossed the Nakdong 10 miles west of Taegu against fierce Red resistance.

The 24th had been pulled back from the Pohang front in a surprise move. But the Reds were waiting, on the west bank. Machinegun fire laced the American boats when they reached mid-stream in a Tuesday dawn crossing.

Infantrymen slugged out a bridgehead in the first hour and by nightfall had driven a one-mile wedge on the west bank. AP Correspondent Ben Price said the cost was heavy.

Units fanned out into Waegwan, five miles north.

Farther south, the U.S. Second Division moved two battalions across the Nakdong west of Changyong.

Assault boats shuttled back and forth in the face of Red mortar fire. Big rubber rafts floated Jeeps mounted with recoilless 75-mm. guns.

Elsewhere on the Second Division front, weary infantrymen finally captured Hill 201 with its intricate fortifications. It had taken five days of bitter fighting.

At dusk Tuesday the infantrymen were driving the Reds from ridge to ridge.

At least 74 Russian-made artillery and mortar pieces were abandoned by the Reds east of the Nakdong. Ordnance men set to work preparing them for combat use by Allied troops.

Huge stores of Russian-made ammunition also were seized.

Baseball Roundup

By Murray Rose

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Boston's flaming Red Sox seared Detroit's Tigers for the second straight day with a ninth-inning, 3-2 victory Monday that sent the Sox within one game of the league-leading New York Yankees.

A two-run rally in the ninth and another superb relief job by lion-hearted Ellis Kinder carried the Sox to victory and into second place past Detroit. Boston now leads Detroit by a half game in the hectic American league race.

Yanks Idle

The Yanks were idle and most of them listened to the account of the game with mingled emotions.

A looping single by Walt Drope and a fly out by Bobby Doerr drove home the tying and winning runs.

The win, his eighth against four losses, went to young Willard Nixon. Hal Newhouser was charged with his 11th defeat against 14 victories.

The thriller was the only American league game of the day.

In the National league, meanwhile, the injury-plagued Philadelphia Phillies received some comfort as the third place Brooklyn Dodgers took another licking, 9-7, from Chicago.

Dodgers Nine Games Out

That dropped the faltering Dodgers nine games behind the pace-setting Phils. The Phils and the second place Boston Braves both were idle today. Boston trails Philadelphia by 7½ games.

Ron Northey's pinch-homer with the bases loaded in the seventh brought the Cubs victory despite young Tommy Brown's three homers for Brooklyn.

In the only other National league contest, fast-moving New York routed St. Louis, 13-0, behind Larry Jansen's two-hit hurling. The win moved the Giants within a half game of Brooklyn.

It was the fifth shutout of the year for Jansen and his 17th victory against 12 defeats.

As 'DiMag' Goes, So do The Yankees

By Jack Hand

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—(AP)—It's still true that "Joe DiMaggio goes, so go the Yankees."

The $100,000 Yankee clipper remains the key to New York's bid for a second straight American league pennant.

With Joe D. batting at a .388 clip since his mid-summer "vacation" on the bench, the Yanks surged from third to first. Now, with 12 games to go, they lead Boston by a game and Detroit by 1½ games.

You ask DiMaggio how he snapped out of it. He honestly doesn't know.

"No, I haven't made any changes," he said. "I just keep going along trying to get my hits. Earlier I was trying to do things at the plate to snap out of it. Probably you couldn't notice it from the stands. But now I've found it again."

"Last spring I hit to right field more than usual. But now everything is just like it used to be. I pull everything. I hope it keeps up."

Since his return, Aug. 17, DiMaggio has played 32 games. He has 45 hits in his last 116 at bats, including nine doubles, three triples and nine homers. His season batting average soared from .270 to .298. Any day now, perhaps tonight at Comiskey park, he may go over .300 for the first time since May.

DiMaggio's "comeback," when many were writing his baseball obituary, sparked a home run flurry by the entire Yankee club. In the last 20 games, they have hit 36 homers for a season total of 147. Johnny Mize hit 10 during the streak. DiMaggio seven and Yogi Berra six.

May Avert a World War III

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—The United Nations fight in Korea may have prevented World War III, Senator Scott W. Lucas (D-Ill.) said yesterday.

There can be no doubt that U. N. action to defend South Korea has "shaken the bloody bunglers of the Kremlin," he said.

Lucas, who is campaigning for re-election, made his remarks to the Peoria Advertising club.

The United States has the greatest collection of atomic bombs and secret weapons ever assembled by a nation, Lucas said.

"We have borne the brunt of battle in Korea because we are the largest and strongest free nation in the world. But we have stirred the hearts and won the support of free men and women everywhere," he said.

Lucas declared that the 81st Congress has taken "the boldest steps in history" to stop war and prevent Communist domination.

Home From a Vacation Tour

Mrs. Walter Banning, route 3, Sedalia, returned home Thursday from Washington, D.C., where she has been visiting her sisters, Mrs. Harry M. Howard, Mr. Howard and children, Robert and Norman, and Miss Helen Brubaker.

Miss Brubaker had been in Sedalia visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brubaker, 1704 East Sixteenth street, and was accompanied back to Washington by Mrs. Banning. A few days later Mrs. Banning was joined there by her son and daughter, Ralph Banning and Miss Emily Banning, who drove there after their mother. They visited also with relatives in Virginia and many interesting places including Gettysburg, Luray Caverns and Washington.

Mrs. Banning and her son returned to Sedalia but Miss Banning went to Boston where she will reside. Ralph Banning left this week for Columbia where he has entered the Missouri University College of Agriculture.

Child Killed And Eight Injured

POPLAR BLUFF, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A child was killed and eight other persons injured, two seriously, when an automobile transport truck rammed an automobile on highway 67 near here Sunday.

Albert Lee Hays, 30-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hays of St. Louis, was killed instantly in the wreckage. The injured included the parents, Nelson Hays, aged 4, another of their children and Mrs. Lela Hays, 55, grandmother of the children. Johnny M. Clark of Poplar Bluff was driving the automobile.

Loren B. Langley, 38, of Garland, Tex., driver of the truck was questioned and released.

Considers Excess Profit Tax Necessary

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Rep. Bolling (D-Mo.) told a reporter Saturday he was for an excess profits tax retroactive to July 1, 1950.

While it is necessary to pass an excess profits tax law, Bolling said, it is even more important that excessive profits on defense contracts not be allowed in the first instance.

"Why allow them only to recover them, at least in part, through an excess profit tax?" he asked.

Red Claims Amuse West

FRANKFURT —(AP)—German anti-Communists are having fun challenging the number of signatures the Communists claim to have collected for their Stockholm "peace petition" for outlawing of the (American) atom bomb.

For instance, in Russian-occupied east Germany the Communists claim to have collected 17,046,000 signatures. This territory has a population of about 17.5 million and even if another million were added for the Soviet sector of Berlin, it would be a hardly plausible performance.

"It seems," remarked one west German newspaper, "that babies in arms also have been signing the appeal, not to mention people in prisons and mental institutions."

Chinese Reds Stamps Bid To Get Tools

By Pachlan MacDonald

(Anchorage, Alaska, Times)
ANCHORAGE, Alaska — Postcards bearing the new stamps of Communist China are being received here bearing requests for industrial tools to further the war effort in Red China.

Mailed from the Communist stronghold of Tientsin, a major seaport about 200 miles west of the Korean mainland, the cards are addressed to hardware stores and automotive supply firms.

Printed in English, beneath the letterhead of the North Korean Import Corporation, the message requests "the following reference material." Specifically it seeks "catalogs of bulletins on industrial tools and small tools"

Sedalia, Missouri
Gentlemen:

"As you know the 1950 Missouri State Fair was attended by over 360,000 people, and has been rated by many Fair experts as the greatest of 42 Fairs held in Sedalia. We strongly believe the success of this event is in a large measure due to the wonderful cooperation and assistance as demonstrated by splendid organizations like your own. Much credit is also due the personnel from the various civic groups who served in your behalf during the week.

"We deeply appreciate your efforts and again say thanks for a job well done.

"With warmest personal regards, we remain
"Most sincerely
"Missouri State Fair

Rolfe E. Singleton, assistant."

Prison Escapee Is Retaken In Arkansas

BALD KNOB, Ark., Sept. 19.—(AP)—A man identified as an escaped life-terminer from a Des Moines, Ia., prison was arrested here Monday.

Deputy Sheriff James J. Jones said the man, now 74, was sentenced to prison under the name of George Mathison 17 years ago for murder and escaped in January, 1948.

He had been living near Bald

NEW, MIRACLE ELECTRONIC EAR HIDES DEAFNESS

CHICAGO, (Special)—An amazing new electronic ear which hides deafness and transmits even whispers with startling clarity, has been revealed by a noted Chicago electronic scientist.

He disclosed that this miraculous new discovery has rendered old-style hearing aids obsolete almost overnight, and brings new hope to the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing.

He reported that this electronic ear enables the deaf to hear without any button showing in the ear and without dangling battery wires. To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with this new miracle electronic ear which hides deafness, full details are described in a fascinating booklet, "New Discoveries to Help the Deaf Hear." It will be sent free in a plain wrapper to anyone who requests it. Address: Electronic Research Director, 1450 West 19th Street 504-C, Belmont Building, Chicago 8, Ill. A penny postcard will do.—Adv.

Headquarters in Sedalia For HADACOL
MAIN STREET CUT RATE DRUG

A Doctor Advised Hadacol for Mrs. Wade—Relieved Her Neuritis Pains and Gas on Stomach

Her trouble caused by deficiencies in Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Nicotin

Day after day, we are besieged by letters pouring in, telling of the almost miraculous results the great new HADACOL treatment is giving folks who are troubled with these deficiencies. Just read what Mrs. Myrtle Wade, Route 1 of Martin, Tennessee, writes:

"I have been sick for quite some time with a nervous condition. I am 58 years old. I asked my doctor about taking HADACOL as I was taking shots every week from him. He told me to take it for it was good to build a weak person up. So I got a bottle and took it. I ached all over with neuritis pains. I had a lot of trouble with gas after every meal. Nothing agreed with me. By the time I took HADACOL a few days I could tell I was getting better. I got my third bottle today and I feel everyone I see what a wonderful medicine it is. All who have taken it tell me they feel so much better and sleep so good at night.

"I only wish I'd begun taking HADACOL long ago, but as I had tried most everything with no results I kept putting it off but I can truthfully say HADACOL has done more for me than anything I've tried."

Ask your own doctor if this isn't so. A lack of only a small amount of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Nicotin can cause much sickness—neuritis aches and pains (commonly called rheumatism pain), stomach distress, gas, indigestion, and a general all-around run-down condition being but a few.

So don't keep on taking products which give only temporary relief. Common sense will tell you that you must get at the cause of such deficiencies. And now—thanks to HADACOL—it's at last possible to do so.

Helps You Feel Wonderful
HADACOL supplies your deficiency system with extra amounts of these vital elements and starts you on the road to feeling better, often within a few days' time. And if you take this great medicine regularly—it helps prevent such miseries from coming back. HADACOL comes in liquid form so that it's more quickly and easily absorbed in the blood. It even builds up the hemoglobin content of red blood cells (where iron is needed) to carry these precious health-building elements to every organ of your body—to the heart, lungs, liver and kidneys—even to the eyes, hair and nails.

Make up your mind that you'll start the great HADACOL treatment today. Just see if you won't thank us again and again for making public these facts about one of the greatest medical blessings of all times.

HADACOL costs only $1.19 for a trial size bottle. Large (family or hospital) size, $3.39. It is sold only on a strict money-back guarantee.

AERIAL VIEW OF WARSAW

The history of Warsaw is so closely related to the history of the Osage river and to the trade that was carried on over the river route that it is impossible to speak of one without mentioning the other.

In 1837 the commissioners of Benton county saw the need for a county seat. Both Frisco Town and Osage entered bids, but the board decided to turn down these offers and lay out a new town. It was built near the head of navigation on the Osage river and on the Springfield trail. Both these transportation routes were used by early fur traders, who developed them into important trade channels.

Large shipments of goods were brought up the river and into Warsaw, where they were exchanged. Pork, hides, furs and grain were shipped out of Warsaw and down the river. The colorful steamboat crews brought to the region one of its most exciting eras.

Stores Had Two Fronts

Since most of the town's business was carried on among the river traders the store owners in Warsaw looked for and discovered a method of dealing with both the residents and still keeping up their business with the river men. Their solution was to build two fronts on all stores along the waterfront. Many of the buildings that still remain in Warsaw are constructed in this manner.

The most famous haunt of the river traders during their stay in Warsaw was the old Union House, a two-story brick structure not far from the water's edge. During the Civil War this building was turned into a lodging place for Federal officers. Today this historical structure houses a funeral home.

Interesting History

Another building with an interesting history is the Warsaw Christian church. Built in the 1840's the church was one of the sturdiest buildings in Warsaw. At the time of the Civil War it was converted into an army hospital for Union casualties, and was also used by Union officers as headquarters for their activities in the region. In the latter part of the 1920's the U. S. Government paid the church $600 for its use during the Civil War.

In the 1870's as the overland routes were improved and made more accessible, the river traffic began to decline. Warsaw, for the first time in its history, settled down to become a farming community. It remained a farming center until the completion of Bagnell dam in 1931, at which time the nearness to the Lake of the Ozarks turned the town into a resort center.

Considering Another Dam

Another dam project is now being considered by the government and Warsaw has been chosen as a possible location. The purpose of this dam will be to establish in the district a suitable flood control system and to afford a more abundant water reserve. The cost of this proposed flood control plan is $80,000,000.

Although Warsaw is primarily a resort center it is also the headquarters for one of the country's leading gunstock manufacturers, the Bishop Gunstock Company. This company turns out walnut gunstocks for rifle manufacturers throughout the country. The stocks are made for both rifles and shotguns.

The Acres Hatchery, owned by John Acres, is another of the town's industrial assets.

Newspaper Man Arrives

In the early 1850's Thomas Benton White arrived in Warsaw. White was formerly an editorial writer for the Rocky Mountain News, until he decided to try his hand at publishing. When he arrived in Warsaw he purchased a sunken ship which had settled in the river not far from the river bank. He had the wrecked boat pulled ashore and converted the hull into a newspaper office. White named his first publication the Benton County Enterprise, a name it retained until 1935. During that year three papers in the area consolidated and White's grandson, M. N. White, renamed the weekly the Benton County Guide.

Town Government

The mayor of this county seat, incorporated as a fourth class city, is G. R. Breese. On the city board with the mayor are four aldermen. The town has ten volunteer firemen to man the recently purchased truck and a night city marshal to police the community. The total population, according to unofficial 1950 census figures, shows 937.

A maintenance crew does the necessary repair work on the streets. The city owns its water and sewerage systems and gets its electric power through the Missouri Public Service Corporation. Two 600 foot wells supply the water for the 75,000 gallon water tower.

A city park of over 50 acres is complete with ball diamond and a picnic area. The baseball diamond has a sizable grandstand and is equipped with lights for night baseball.

In connection with the park are the playground activities carried on during the summer months. About forty school children participate in this program each year.

Belongs to League

Warsaw has its own city softball team, which is a member of an inter county league, a Junior Legion team and a semi-pro baseball club, active in the many tournaments and league play in this district.

In 1935 the Community building was completed through the efforts of the Works Progress Administration. The building is used for all town meetings and various sports activities. The auditorium has a seating capacity of over 1,500 persons.

In the basement of this building is the Bishop Gunstock Factory. Also on the lower floor is the Benton County Library, established in 1935. The library was first located in the Court House, but in 1937 it was moved into the Community Building. In charge of the library at this time is Mrs. S. E. Bowman, who has served as librarian since 1944. The library is supplied with an estimated 3,500 volumes.

Some Private Planes

Not far from Warsaw is the Skyline Farm, previously the city airport, and now converted to farm land. The 540 acres are owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hall. A few private planes are still kept on the field, which is also used as an emergency landing field. On the field, comprising about 200 acres of runway space, are three hangars.

The Warsaw public grade and high school employs 21 teachers and has nine school buses in operation during the school year. There are five churches in the town along with a Masonic Lodge and a Lions club.

The decade of the 1840's was Warsaw's fastest moving era. The first few years were filled with the lawlessness and excitement that usually rises out of a young and expanding community.

From 1841 to 1845 Warsaw found itself in the midst of the territory's famed "Slicker War." The "war" broke out when the region became infested with thieves, counterfeiters, rustlers and murderers. A committee of citizens, with a thirst for law and order, organized the "Slickers." The purpose of the group was to catch the law breakers and "slick" them with strong hickory switches. This became a rather successful movement until the criminals made a wise and unsuspected move. The thieves, murderers and their equally guilty cohorts began to join the "Slickers" and in a short time the organization was so corrupt that it commanded little of the respect it had once possessed.

"Anti-Slickers"

Another attempt on the part of the lawless faction of the town to rid the area of the "Slickers" was to form a band of their own known as the "Anti-Slickers." When the two were in full strength the town was subjected to a virtual reign of terror. Ambushings, night raids, whippings and mass attacks were not uncommon during this period.

The leader of the "Anti-Slickers" was an individual named "Tom Turk." In a book, "A Quaker Forty-Niner," by Charles Edward Pancoast, Turk is described as a six-foot-eight-inch, dark eyed, eagle nosed man, whose hair hung in black curls down his back.

"Turk" wore lye-colored pants, girded with a red Belt and silver Buckles, and high Boots, from which the handle of a Bowie Knife peered out; another knife was in his shirt and at the back of his neck; a pistol was in his belt and a rifle in his hand."

Nine Were Killed

Led by Turk the "Anti-Slickers" opened their campaign against the "Slickers" and before the feud was brought to a halt in 1845 nine persons had lost their lives and a score of others had been wounded and suffered property losses.

Another incident spoken of by Pancoast in his book deals with a political meeting, a politician and a heckler. An influential political

Gen. Bradley Says Defense is Bright

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(P)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley said today America's foreign and military policy now calls for the defense of Western Europe at the start of any world war instead of trying to liberate the continent after it has been overrun.

In an article appearing simultaneously in the combat forces journal and the Reader's Digest, the chairman of the joint chiefs of staff said the chances of defending Western Europe are "immensely brighter" than they were a year ago. He attributed this to American productive power, Europe's economic recovery, and the military aid program which has helped to "invigorate" Western Europe.

To build up defenses, General Bradley said, the ten countries of the North Atlantic treaty organization should pool resources and man-power to achieve "a military strength which the present overlapping efforts of its members could never reach."

Under such an arrangement, Bradley said, the United States might contribute strategic bombers, Britain might provide jet tactical aircraft, and France might draw on its "greater man-power resources" in Europe.

4-H's May Secure Gilt

The Pettis county 4-H council met at the assembly room of the court house Tuesday night at 8:00 o'clock. The meeting was opened by Emmett Fairfax, the president, leading the 4-H pledge. Roll call was answered by "Our Greatest Accomplishment This Year." Miss Anna Lee Harvey led the group in several songs.

Increasing new memberships and forming new clubs was an important topic of discussion. Miss Anna Lee Harvey told about 4-H achievement week and asked for a discussion on it. Bryan Phifer asked the club members to make application for Rotary gifts if they wished to have them.

All records, along with the secretary's book, are to be in the office by October 1. Emmett Fairfax announced that Recognition night will be December 9. He also talked about national contests and their values. Closing day for these entries is September 28.

Miss Lillian Bahner told about National Fire Prevention week, which is October 8-14. All communities are to have a U. N. flag for U. N. week. Miss Lillian Watkins. Information can be obtained at the office. Livestock members who wish to enter their baby beavers in the St. Louis Market day at the American Royal sales should contact Mr. Phifer immediately.

New Warehouse For Lamy Co.

John Pelham, company engineer for the J. A. Lamy Manufacturing Co., said that the Lamy company, manufacturers of Levi overalls, had started the construction of a larger warehouse to be located on the Lamy lot. When the warehouse is completed there will be an additional 7,000 feet of storage space which will give steady employment to their 396 employees. The company is doing its own construction and they have all the vital materials needed. They are in hopes that the building will be finished around the first of the year.

In past years it has been necessary to lay-off some workers because of the shortage of storage space but now the workers will be able to work the year around and in the winter time the storage space can be filled in preparation for the summer rush season.

The foundation for the building has already been laid.

Fair Grounds Fogged By DDT

The Missouri State Fair grounds undergoing a complete fogging to exterminate the "pesky" fly and any other useless insects which DDT will exterminate. The announcement was made by William "Bill" Preston, secretary of the fair, Monday.

Work is being done by Fog Inc., of Kansas City and Excelsior Springs, owned by R. B. Brown, of Excelsior Springs. The organization makes a specialty of "fogging" cities and fairs.

The machine used in the fogging has arrived and work started Monday. Every building on the grounds where animals, were kept, concessions were operated and so on will get a heavy fogging. Refuse piles will also be fogged to kill out the breeding spots of flies.

The company visited the fair

Slight Damage In 2-Car Collision

Slight damage resulted to two automobiles and no injuries were suffered by occupants in a collision on south highway 65 just south of the Flat Creek bridge about 7:00 o'clock Monday night.

Clarence Schnabel of route 1, Sedalia, driving his 1949 Dodge sedan, and a 1947 Frazer sedan driven by Mrs. Margie Amos, of Kansas City, Kas., were the cars figuring in the mishap. Both vehicles were headed north toward Sedalia.

According to State Trooper Pete Stohr, Mrs. Amos started to pass the Schnabel car when a truck appeared from the north and she started to cut back behind the Schnabel automobile. In cutting back the front right fender of the Frazer locked on the rear left part of the Dodge coupe. Both cars swerved around and slid down the west embankment of the highway. The left rear fender was damaged on the Dodge and slight damage resulted to the right front fender of the Frazer.

Mrs. Schnabel was accompanying her husband to Sedalia and was shaken up. Mrs. Amos was accompanied by her husband and small child neither of whom were injured.

Chamberlin's wreckers were called to pull the cars back onto the highway.

grounds shortly before fair week and during the week fogging was conducted. Precaution is being taken by Secretary Preston to see that any possibility of breeding a new crop of flies will be checked.

Warsaw History Dates Back to 1837

figure named Major in the territory, stopped in Warsaw to make a talk among a group of followers. In the crowd that attended the meeting was a trouble maker known as "Reddy." "Reddy" began to interrupt Major at various times during his speech and Major ordered him to leave.

Between speech making and arguing Major ended the heckling by coming face to face with his disturber. "Reddy" pulled a "Bowie Knife" and lunged at Major, wounding him. Major died a short time later of these stab wounds and "Reddy," who was followed by a posse made good his escape to Illinois.

Lawyer Rides In
One day a well known lawyer entered Warsaw riding on his favorite stallion. The man, who was very proud of his horses, stopped at the local jail, where he discovered a 20-year-old youth imprisoned for stealing horses.

The lawyer took pity on the boy and promised to defend him when his case went before the bench. During the trial the lawyer impressed the jury with an eloquent speech of the restlessness of youth, the boy's sincere regret for the crime he committed, and of the youth's mother, who waited expectantly for his return. Deeply moved by the description of the boy's predicament the jury turned in a verdict of "not guilty" and the boy was freed.

Following the trial the boy approached the lawyer and thanked him, telling him that he would be grateful for life. The lawyer invited the boy to share his lodgings and the next day he would find the youth a job.

The next morning the lawyer awoke, found the boy had left the room and inquired of the clerk as to the youth's whereabouts. He was informed the boy had left early. The lawyer rushed to the horse barn, where he discovered that the boy had fled with his prized riding horse. The enraged barrister went to the sheriff and got out a posse. The boy was tracked as far as Arkansas and his trail was lost there.

Ran a Steamboat
Pancoast also tells of his work on the river boats. He was running a steamship along the Osage river and put in at Warsaw one afternoon. Early the next morning a "conceited young man" boarded his boat and inquired about the cost of a trip to Linn Creek by steamer. Pancoast told the boy he would take him to Linn Creek for four dollars.

The boy protested strongly, claiming that such a sum was unreasonable and that he would pay no more than 40 cents an hour, plus 40 cents for each meal eaten on the boat during the trip. The usual trip to Linn Creek from Warsaw took only four hours, but Pancoast finally agreed, obliging the boy to sign a contract to the effect that he would pay Pancoast 40 cents for each hour he was en route to Linn Creek. The boy signed and the trip was begun.

On the way to Linn Creek Pancoast steered his boat onto every sandbar he could find in the river. Pancoast said he noted the boy was getting more worried by the minute, always glancing at the river ahead and then at his watch. The boat finally pulled into Linn Creek docks 32 hours later. After totaling the hours on the water and the price of several meals the youth's passage amounted to over $14.00.

When Pancoast spoke of this incident later he said the boy began to plead with him, taking all his money out of his pocket and showing it to the river captain. The boy only had seven dollars in his pockets. After letting the boy worry for a while Pancoast compromised on four dollars, his original offer, and later remarked to his friends the boy left the boat much wiser than he had been when he boarded.
